How to use this website

A free exchange of data

- This object is a modular device for exchanging data via local networks.
- Its objective is to allow the simple and informal exchange of data (activist, artistic...) in a dimension of encounter and discovery.
- He is imagining to take his place within an event and come to capture the gen. But it can very well be used between friends for fun or independently.
- Its modularity is defined by its ability to be able to adapt to other machines: printer, speaker, computer, depending on the location and means.
